

Lastminute.com is a customer of Successful Software Company

The Successful Software Company signed a custom software development contract with the international company lastminute.com! The middleware will do the invoicing of the reservations of lastminute's on line reservation system. The same software will also produce automatically a series of special financial and administrative reports.